The Town of Lowville.

THE Town of Lowville is named in honor of Nicholas Low, who became the owner thereof August 5, 1796, upon a division between the four owners of the Black River Tract, and was surveyed around its borders in May, 1796.

It was organized by an act of the legislature of the state of New York on the 18th day of March, 1800. It embraced all that part of Lewis county designated as township No. 11 of the Black River Tract, in McComb's purchase. At first it contained all that part of Denmark south of Deer river, which was afterwards taken off in the formation of Harrisburg. The town of Turin and other towns were organized at the same time and by the same act of the legislature. The first town meeting was held at the residence of Silas Stow. Following is the record thereof as transcribed in the book of town records, remaining in the town clerk's office of the town of Lowville:

"1800. At a meeting held at the house of the last residence of Silas Stow, Esq., in the town of Lowville, on Tuesday, the 1st day of April, 1800, Daniel Kelley was chosen supervisor; Moses Coffeen, town clerk; Charles Davenport, Jonathan Rogers and Benjamin Hillman, assessors; Isaac Perry, James Bailey and Benjamin Hillman, commissioners of highways; Bella Davenport and Aaron Cole, overseers of the poor; Ehud Stevens, constable and collector; Ehud Stevens, pathmaster in road district No. 1; David Cobb, pathmaster in road district No. 2; Asa Newton, pathmaster in road district No. 3; David Porter, pathmaster in road district No. 4; Zadock Bush, pathmaster in road district No. 5; Jonathan Rogers and Elisha Stephens, poundmasters and fence-viewers. Adam Wilcox, Benjamin Hillman, Jonathan Rogers, Daniel Kelley, Asa Newton and John Bush were chosen as a committee to look out some convenient place or places, as they should deem necessary, for the purpose of burying ground.

"Voted that Hogs should be free-commoned by being yoked with a yoke half the depth of their neck below, the depth of their neck above and the width of their neck on each side. Voted to raise four dollars by a tax to pay Esq. Mix for his services done for the town, and that the next annual town meeting should be held at the dwelling house of Moses Waters in said town of Lowville.

"The above is a true record of said meeting.

Attest: MOSES COFFEEN,
Town Clerk."

I certify the above to be a true copy of the original as transcribed by me. WILLIAM DARROW,
Town Clerk.

Thus it is seen that the town of Lowville, now the shire town and county seat of Lewis county, containing churches, public buildings, business blocks, hotels, academy, public schools, factories, with its electric lights, water works, etc., began with small beginnings, with only five road districts in the town, when no doubt cow-paths served much for roads. School houses were poor and scarce, if any. Log houses or shanties were the homes of the inhabitants. Churches none, pleasures few, sorrows and hardships many, and as we look over the town at present, with its growth and thrift, we look back to its founders and admire their courage with wonder and respect as we think of their toil and hardship in a new, wild and barren country in their forest home, with its deep snow and wintry winds, with the star of hope within their bosoms, their willing hearts and strong hands, to procure a living, trusting in that God who presides over the destinies of the pioneer who is willing to help himself, for protection and refuge.

AREA OF THE TOWN.

Upon the survey of the town in May, 1796, by Benjamin Wright, it was reported that the town contained 24,453 acres and in a survey afterwards made by him in dividing the town into lots of from 154 to 693 acres each, it was reported as containing 24,615 acres.

In Franklin B. Hough's History of Lewis County it is reported that a reminiscence of this town extends back to the Revolution, and supported by very good verbal testimony, to the effect that a party of Tories and Indians, having captured a Mrs. Roseburgh and her little boy, Henry, in the Mohawk settlements, conducted them through the woods to the High Falls. They had here left concealed a birch canoe, in which they came down the river with their prisoners till on arriving at a place above "Smith's Landing," they left the river and came up to some flat rocks near the present East Road, and encamped. Here they spent the night and proceeded next day to the Long Falls, and from thence to the British post on Carleton Island, in the St. Lawrence river, where Mrs. Roseburgh, a few weeks after, added one to the number of the captives. Henry was adopted by the Indians, but sometime after was stolen away by his relatives. He was born in captivity, and afterwards married a Mrs. Peter VanAtter in this county.

Silas Stow was appointed agent for the sale of land in this town by Mr. Low.

THE FIRST SETTLERS.

The first settlers in Lowville were from Westfield, Mass. They found their way to Turin in 1798. Arriving at High Falls, they built a boat of sufficient size to transport their families to Lowville, and on the 8th of April launched their boat, and with it loaded with their families and provisions, started for Lowville down the river. The passengers were Jonathan Rogers and his children, Bela, Polly and Isaac; Ehud Stephens, his wife Mercy, and his children, Clarrissa, Appollos and Harvey; Jessie Wilcox, Philemon Hoadley, Zebulon Rogers, and Elijah and Justus Woolworth. The craft was towed into Black river by some Frenchmen of Turin, and, according to the sketch above refered to, the boat was soon caught in a current that drew it slowly around toward the falls, against the best effort those assisting could make, when, to save themselves, they cast off their line and rowed toward their own side of the river. Four of the men seized their oars and by hard rowing got within reach of the bottom, when B. Rogers and J. Woolworth jumped out and swam ashore with a rope by which the craft was towed down below the eddy, and then rowed across to the French houses opposite. A part of the load was here taken off, and they again started a little after noon. Running down the swollen current, they arrived just before sunset, at the end of their voyage, as far up the Lowville creek as they could push their boat, near the place where Luke Wilder once had a brick yard.

They landed upon a tree that had fallen across the creek and prevented further progress, but were yet half a mile distant from the shanty where they were to spend the night. B. Rogers and J. Woolworth started with a gun to look up the spot, and lost some time in finding a marked line to guide them. The rest followed on with such burdens as they could conveniently carry, and which would be most needed for present comfort. Meanwhile it grew dark and the travelers could no longer see their route, but those who had gone on before had kindled a pile of dry brush and logs, and by the sounding of a horn and the gleam of the cheerful fire they were led to the rude but welcomed shelter. A hearty supper was eaten with relish, aud such as were entitled to the hospitalities of the roof slept under it, while the rest made a couch of hemlock boughs and lay down upon it. Their furniture was brought the next day and their cattle in a few days thereafter.

These were the first settlers of the town, and during the summer others came and took up land. The usual landing place of those who came by water was at what is now called Beaches Bridge.

The following persons took up land:

In 1798, James Bailey, Jehoida and Nathan Page, Hulbert & Cooley, William Darrow, Moses Coffeen.

In 1799, Adam F. Snell, Jacob Snell, Benjamin Hillman, Jacob Ebley, James Craig, John Shull, Jerome Rogers, John Bush, Daniel Porter, George Bradford, Zadock Bush, Asa Newton, James Parsons, Richard Livingston, Zeboim Carter, Noah Durrin, Ebenezer Hill, Samuel VanAtta, James Boshart, Garret Boshart, William Ford, Benjamin Ford, John Kitts, Hooper Boohall, Philes & Kitts, Fisk & Searl and James Cadwell.

In 1800, Reuben Putney, Luther Washburn, Aaron Coles, David Cobb, Nathaniel Durham, Pardon Lanpher and Francis Murphy.

In 1801, Joseph Newton, Benjamin Zice, Jesse Benjamin, Elijah Parks, Z. Plank, E. Newton, David Rice, David Wilbur, Jabez Puffer, Samuel Bailey, John Bailey, Joseph Purrinton, Nathan Rowlee, Hezekiah Wheeler, Levi Bickford, Joseph Malby, Eliphaz Searle, Calvin Merrill, A. D. Williams, Benjamin Davenport, Daniel Porter, A. and A. Sigourney, Mather Bosworth, Loomis J. Danks, Edward Shepard, Zuriel Waterman, Amasa Hitchcock, Ozen Bush, Simeon Babcock, Thaddeus Smith, Elijah Baldwin, Jonathan Hutchinson, Erastus Haskins, Robert Barnett, Jesse Hitchcock, Kent & Bull, John Delap, Nathaniel Prentice and Lewis Gosard.

The first deed to actual settlers was given April 12, 1798, to Daniel Kelley, for Lot 37, of 250 acres, for $650. The first birth in the town was that of Harriet, daughter of Ehud Stephens, (afterwards wife of Dr. James M. Sturdevant), which occurred February, 24, 1799. The first male born in the town was Samuel, son of Jonathan Rogers, June 21, 1800. The first death is believed to have been of a child of one Cooley. The first of an adult was that of Aaron Hovey. The first marriage in Lowville was that of Moses Waters, at Stowe Square.

A few Indians then resided in this vicinity. Traveling in those days was mostly on foot or horseback, or with oxen and rude ox-sleds. Fish and game were plenty, which much helped the settlers.

In 1798, Daniel Kelley built a sawmill on the south side of the creek in this village, below the present bridge. His first log hut, built the same year, stood against a huge boulder adjacent thereto. A gristmill was built the next year.

Daniel Kelley, who seems to have been identified with about all the business enterprises at the time of the settlement of the town, was born in Norwich, Conn., November 27, 1755. He married Jemima Stow, a sister of Silas Stow. He was a clothier by trade. Came to Lowville in the winter of 1798-'99, when there were but two families in town, viz: Ira Stephens and Jonathan Rogers. He was the first Judge of the Court of Common Pleas and one of the first trustees of Lowville Academy. In 1814, he moved to Cleveland, Ohio, where he became postmaster and county treasurer. He died there August 7, 1831, 76 years of age. His wife is said to have been a woman of excellent character, strong mentally and physically, kind and generous, and acted as physician and nurse for the settlers free of charge.

The building of Kelley's mill, above refered to, an Inn by Jonathan Rogers, and a store by Fortunatus Eager, did much to determine the location of the village of Lowville. The first frame building in what is now known as the village of Lowville was the house of Jonathan Roger, and much of the village is now located on the farm formerly owned by him.

The first census of the town of Lowville was taken in 1807 by Jonathan Patten and Roswell Waterman, and showed the following named persons:

In 1828, a silver mine was discovered on the south branch of the creek about half a mile above Lowville. It was worked for a time, but the work was afterwards discontinued. There was no railroad to Lowville at that time, and it would not be surprising if it would now pay to work the mine.

In October, 1864, the Silver Creek Mining Company was incorporated and spent considerable money in sinking a shaft and prospecting for the prescious metals near what used to be called Moor's Planing Mill. This, too, was before the advent of railroad transportation to and from Lowville.

Thus it will be seen that large sums of money have been spent on Lowville mines, and in searching for the prescious metals. All this was before there was any railroad transportation to or from Lowville, and it would not be at all surprising if such an undertaking with the present railroad facilities might be successful.

Village of Lowville.

THE Village of Lowville was incorporated July 10, 1854. The survey of the village was made by N. B. Sylvester. The vote for incorporation stood 109 for and 33 against. The first trustees of the village were Joseph A. Willard, N. B. Sylvester, A. G. Dayan, S. B. Batcheller and George W. Fowler.

The first fire company was formed July 24, 1829, with Stephen Leonard, captain; Palmer Townsend, 1st lieutenant; and S. W. Taylor, 2d lieutenant. This company had a small fire engine and bucket brigade. In 1870 the brick building on Dayan street was built for the Lowville Fire Department, at a cost of $3,500. A new fire engine was afterwards purchased for the village, but as Lowville now has one of the best gravity systems of waterworks in Northern New York that affords excellent fire protection, there is no use for a fire engine and it has been sold.

The village of Lowville is one of the most healthy villages in Northern New York. Situated on the eastern slope of the highlands running north and south through Lewis county, a splendid view is afforded north, south and east across Black river for many miles over a vast region of farming country, and giving a view of sections of six different towns, and in the far distance Chases Lake and the forests of the Adirondack Mountains. Probably the people of no town in the state have better air or enjoy a better view than the people of the village of Lowville

Lowville and vicinity is one of the best farming regions in the state of New York, having a very rich, fertile soil, well adapted to raising farm produce. It is a nice residence village with fine residences, streets and lawns. An up-to-date town, having a fine electric light system, gravity water system that furnishes pure spring water from springs at the foot of the Adirondack Mountains, a powerful electric plant that furnishes all the electricity needed for lights, propelling power, etc., first-class public schools, fine school buildings, the Lowville Academy, so conducted that students go direct from the academy to college without intermediate training. Fine churches, business blocks, factories and hotels. One of the best opera houses in Northern New York, and the new Lowville club house, one of the finest club houses in this section of the country where people of wealth and leisure, and some who have more leisure than wealth, while away their time with pleasure and contentment.

Lowville is the County Seat of Lewis county, having the court house and other county buildings. Its citizens rank high in intelligence and refinement. The village has two strong National Banks where the people may store away their surplus money in safety. On the whole there probably is no, finer, cleaner, healthier, or up-to-date village in Northern New York than the village of Lowville.

THE LOWVILLE BANKS.

The following mentioned banks have done business in Lowville:

The Bank of Lowville was organized in December, 1838, with a capital stock of $100,000. Isaac W. Bostwick, president; Kent Jarvin, cashier; James L. Leonard, Teller. In 1855 the presidency passed to William L. Easton, and in 1857 to J. L. Leonard. After the death of Mr. Leonard the affairs of this bank were closed up, and the time for redemption of bills closed January 28, 1875. It is said two robberies occurred at this bank, but not with loss to the bank.

"The Valley Bank" was organized May 7, 1851. This bank afterwards was removed to Boonville, and from thence to Ogdensburg, where it went out of business.

The "Bank of the People" was organized May 11, 1852, and was closed up October 24, 1856.

A banking establishment under the name of the "Bank of Lowville" was opened by George M. Brooks, in the Leonard building. This bank was finally closed by reason of the insolvency of its owner.

FIRST NATIONAL BANK OF LOWVILLE.

The First National Bank of Lowville (No. 348) was organized under the National Banking Law September 15, 1863, with a capital of $50,000. It began business January 1, 1865. The officers of the bank are as follows: Charles D. Boshart, president; John Pfister, vice-president; E. H. Bush, cashier; W. H. Milligan, teller. Directors: Frederick Mc-

FREE COMMUNION BAPTIST CHURCH.

A Free Communion Baptist Church was organized October 12, 1816, with Amasa Dodge as pastor. No church edifice was built or organization kept up.

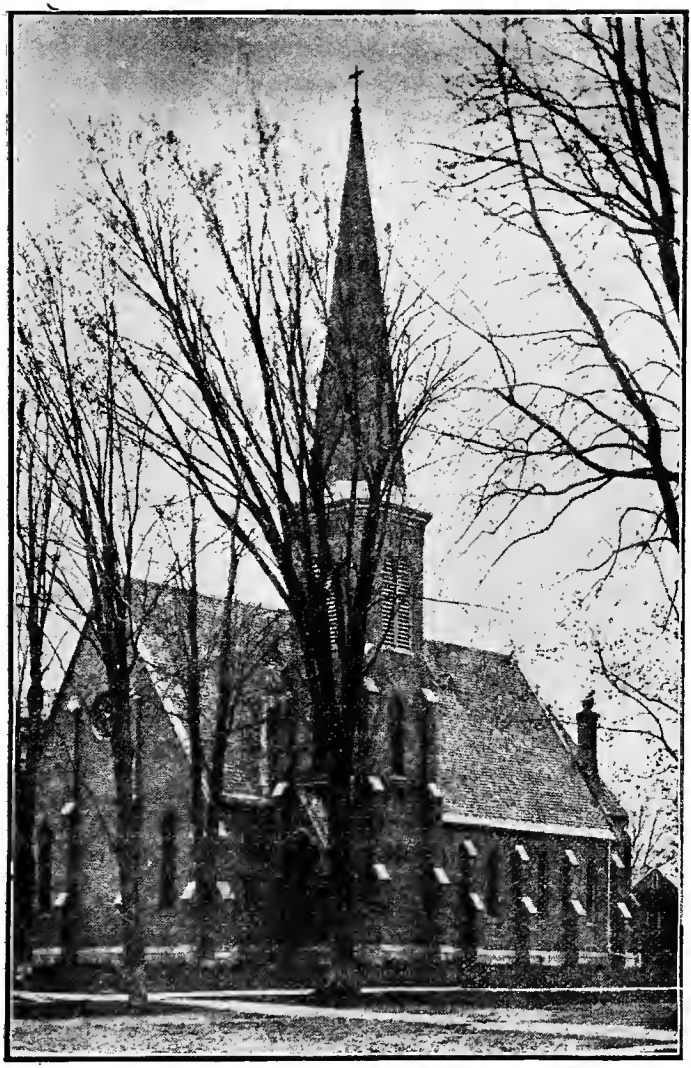

Another society was formed June 19, 1860, with David Waters, Warren Salmon, Paul B. Maxon, John O'Donnell, Sanford Peebles, S. H. Folts and Lewis Wilcox as trustees, and built a church edifice on Dayan street in 1861. This society for several years had a regular pastor and services. June 22, 1874, the society was reorganized with Sidney A. Sixbury, George F. Galloway, George R. Barrett, Albert H. Waters and John O'Donnell as trustees. The church finally ceased to maintain regular services, and it was claimed that by reason thereof, the church property reverted to John O'Donnell, the grantor. Mr. O'Donnell built the church over into what he named the "Temperance Tabernacle," with stores in front and opera house and hall above and in the rear. This building was afterwards destroyed by fire.

TRINITY EPISCOPAL CHURCH.

An edifice was built in 1846, and consecrated in November of that year. It is said that this society received $750 from the Low family. A tower and bell was added to the building in 1853, at a cost of about $2,000. A rectory was built in 1857. The first wooden edifice was replaced by the present brick one in 1864, at a cost of about $12,000.

In 1878, a fine organ was donated to the church by Messrs. DeWitt C. West and Alburn and Ansel Foster, the first named gentleman contributing one-half and the other two the remainder of the purchase money.

EVANGELICAL LUTHERAN SOCIETY.

This society was organized October 6, 1867, with George D. Ruggles, Peter Lowks, John Guthermute and Marks Petrie as trustees. This church discontinued long since.

OLD SCHOOL BAPTIST CHURCH.

The old School Baptist Church was organized about 1834, under Rev. Martin Salmons. A small chapel was built near the river on the road leading to Illingworth Bridge. This society has long since ceased to hold services. The chapel yet remains, and is sometimes used by other denominations for religious services.

ST. PETER'S CHURCH (ROMAN CATHOLIC.)

The first Catholics to settle in what is now the parish of Lowville were James Hefferman, who came from Tipperary, Ireland, and settled in Martinsburg as early as 1828, John Lynch, from the city of Dublin, Ireland, in 1832, William Curtis, from West Meath in the same year, and James Kelly, from New York in 1840

Among the first Catholic settlers of Lowville were John Siegel, of Bavaria, Germany, not earlier than 1841; Michael Phelan in 1856, and David O'Keefe in 1860. Father James McBride, of Utica, is reported to have said the first mass in the parish at the house of James Kelly about 1840. In 1865, Father Herbst was appointed by Bishop Conroy to take charge of Lowville and other surrounding towns. He stationed himself at Lowville and said mass at the court house. Father Herbst remained about two years and left in 1867.

He was succeeded by Rev. Joseph Fitzgerald, a man it is said of much ability. He built the Lowville church in 1869, under the title of St. Peters, and dedicated it himself on October 3d of that year.

Father Fitzgerald was succeeded by Rev. William B. Nyhan in 1871. There were then in the entire parish eighty families, mostly Irish, some German.

The church at that time was weak and the revenue small.

In 1872, a mission was given by the Jesuit Father Langcake, which had a good effect upon the people. The attendance increased and a better spirit began to prevail, which was increased and added to by Father Ryan in a mission given in 1874.

Still later the Jesuit Father Dewey gave a third mission as successful as the others. Father Ryan was very popular among the people under his charge. The church edifice was improved, a new residence built for the priest at a cost of $4,000, a pipe-organ, new altar and sanctuary added. After a stay of twelve years in Lowville, greatly improving the church property and increasing the membership, he retired and took charge of the parish at Brasier Falls. He was succeeded at Lowville by

St. Peter's Church.

Rev. Joseph Redington in 1883, who left the following year, when Rev. Michael O'Neil took charge December 1, 1884. Rev. P. H. J. Ryan, June 1, 1886. Very Rev. Dean Charles J. McMorrow, June , 1893, a very popular priest, having many friends and who died at this place.

He was succeeded by the present priest, Rev. John H. O'Rourke, who is very popular and has succeeded in building up and greatly improving the church property. Under his charge the church has been rebuilt, repainted and improved. A fine new bell has been placed in the bell tower and the church property generally put in fine condition.

The present trustees of the society are: Rev. John H. O'Rourke, F. M. Kieb and John P. Noon.

Auditors: J. E. Haberer and Peter McGovern.

The total expenditures for the year 1901 were about $4,000. This society, church and church property were never in better condition than now. The present membership of this church is about nine hundred and fifty. In this church the children of members are included in the membership.

THE UNITARIAN CHURCH.

The Unitarian Church is a new organization at Lowville, organized March 30, 1898, and incorporated December 13, of the same year. This society has no creed other than that summarized in the two great Commandments of the New Testament, and no essential doctrine other than that summarized in Christ's Sermon on the Mount as found in the New Testament. No requirement for membership other than silent assent to the two great Commandments, Christ's Sermon on the Mount and the payment of each member of something for the support of the church, the same to be a free-will offering as the New Testament enjoins, by the members as God has prospered them.

The first sermons and organization were by M. Kellogg Schermerhorn, of Poughkeepsie, N. Y., under the auspices of the "American Unitarian Association." The officers of the corporation as shown by the certificate of incorporation are as follows:

President—William B. Breen.

Vice-Presidents—Wallace T. Brooks, Charles G. Elliott.

Secretary—A. P. Harrington.

Treasurer—Frank E. Brahmer.

Trustees—Eugene Arthur, Thomas H. McHale, W. H Greeley.

This society never has had a regular pastor and has no church edifice, but has held services from time to time at the court house and other places. The subscribed membership of this society is about thirty, though the number who have attended and paid toward its support is many more.

It may be truthfully said that this church is unorthodox in some things, its members not believing that Jesus is God, though believing in Him as the Great Teacher and Saviour of men—a Divine man, our brother. Not believing either in the total depravity of man, but that man began with small beginning and has plodded his way slowly but surely upward and onward, and that he will so continue until he arrives at that state for which God brought him into being. Evolution of man, religious thought, religion and Bibles, and salvation by character.

THE PUBLIC SCHOOLS.

The public Schools of Lowville are of high order, with efficient teachers. The school in District No. 2 is the largest and is situated on State street in the village of Lowville. The principal school building in this district is a large and commodious brick building, built in 1885, under Charles P. Leonard, trustee, who has been sole trustee of this district for the last twenty-five years or more, with the exception of one year. The building has since been enlarged by additions until it is now a large and up-to-date school building.

State Street School Building, District No. 2.

The school officers are: Charles P. Leonard, sole trustee; L. Charles Davenport, clerk; Frank L'Huillier, collector; F. S. Easton treasurer.

This is not a union free school, but is a school of high character, graded by the principal teacher and assistants. There are 405 pupils registered on the school register. Reading, writing, spelling, arithmetic, geography, U. S. history, elementary English, advanced English, English composition, second year English, first year Latin, book-keeping, civil government, algebra, music and drawing are taught in this school.

LOWVILLE ACADEMY.

The first Lowville Academy was erected in 1807, at an expense of about $2,000. For a time it was not only used as an academy, but also as court house and a place of public worship. The charter therefor was granted March 21, 1808. The first principal was Rev. Isaac Clinton, his first engagement being for two years at $200 per year. He was succeeded by Stephen W. Tayler, who held the position for twenty years. Mr. Tayler was succeeded by Elium E. Barney and Cyrus M. Fay as associate principals, the former remaining two and the latter three years. Mr. Fay was succeeded by Henry Maltby, who remained until the close of 1835.

A new academy building was erected in 1836. The first term in the new building began with Henry Banister as principal. Mr. Banister was succeeded October, 1837, by Erastus Wentworth, who remained until April, 1838. He was succeeded in a short time by Harrison Miller, the latter in 1839, by David P. Yeomans and David P. Mayhew as associate principals. Mr. Mayhew remained in charge for some years alone, but from 1843 to 1850, he was associated with Franklin Moore. In June, 1852, William R. Adams was appointed principal and served in that capacity for many years. He was succeeded by Lincoln E. Rowley, who was succeeded by the present principal, William H. Perry.

In 1861, two wings were added to the building, making the building into its present form. Many improvements have since been made, large sums of money expended, and the Lowville Academy is today a first-class educational institution, and the building a modern and up-to-date structure.

The officers are now as follows:

Board of Trustees—Horace Bush, president; Wm. R. Adams, secretary; Amasa S. Stoddard, treasurer; Charles D. Boshart, Frank C. Doig, Frederick S. Easton, George W. Fowler, Hiram Gowdy, Charles P. Leonard, Henry A. Phillips, V. Lansing Waters, Farnam J. Bowen, Edgar S. K. Merrell, L. Charles Davenport.

Faculty—William H. Perry, Ph. D., principal, History, Economics and Phychology; Dillon A. Cady, B. S., Mathematics and Science; Eunice E. Perry, Preceptress, Latin and English; C. Blanche Knapp, B. A., Greek and Modern Languages; Katherine L. Mereness, Oratory, Elocution and Physical Culture; John Dale, Phonography and Typewriting.

Societies—Philokalean, Philomathean, Mystic, Nonsaskans.

As an institution of learning Lowville Academy is of high standing. Very many students have been educated at this school, who have in after life distinguished themselves, some as business men and others as professional men, and have stood in the front ranks among their fellowmen. The academy is a corporation maintained by endowment and a charge for board and tuition, a boarding house being connected therewith. Students are educated here not only from Lowville and vicinity but from the several states and foreign countries as well. A teachers' training class in connected therewith.

THE BOSTWICK SEMINARY.

Mrs. Hannah Bostwick, who had received a large amount of property by devise and bequest of her husband, Isaac W. Bostwick, by her will provided for the founding of the Bostwick Seminary for the education of females, to be conducted separately from but under the management of the Lowville Academy. The premises were to be occupied within one year after the date of the conveyance, and the daughters of officers, soldiers, marines and seamen who had been killed or who died while in the service of the United States during the Civil war, and young ladies in indigent circumstances, were to be educated free.

The devised premises were fitted up for a seminary for the education of females and a dwelling for a principal. The property was valued at about $41,000.

Mr. Adams, the principal, resigned and the trustees engaged E. Barton Wood, from the Macedon academy, as principal, July 24, 1866, and the school was opened immediately thereafter for students. Under his management the school gradually dwindled down very low. He resigned September 27, 1867, and on the 19th of October, 1867, Charles W. Bowen, of Glens Falls, was engaged as principal for the Academy and the Bostwick Seminary, he and his family to reside in the latter. He became unpopular and resigned.

In July, 1871, the trustees engaged Joseph A. Prindle, of Oswego, who was educated at the State Normal School at that place, as principal. He, too, became unpopular and was obliged to resign. In August, 1872, the trustees engaged Rev. Granville C. Waterman as principal. He remained two years.

The trust conveyance of Mrs. Bostwick was contested by her heirs, who commenced an action to set aside the conveyance to the trustees, and the suit upon going to the court of appeals was decided against the trustees, but the court held that the title vested immediately and absolutely in the corporation.

The Bostwick Seminary being burdensome the trustees, by auction held June 10, 1873, sold the property for $7,085, about one-third of what it had been valued at a few years before, and which was about the amount of expense the trustees had been to by reason thereof.

The Bostwick Seminary was therefore discontinued and since that time both males and females have been educated at Lowville Academy.

LEWIS COUNTY AGRICULTURAL SOCIETY.

In the year 1820, under an act of the legislature passed in the year 1819, the first agricultural society for Lewis county was formed. The first Lewis County Fair was held in the old academy on the site of the old stone church in Lowville village, October 23, 1821, at which premiums to the amount of over $300 were awarded. Members were furnished with a badge formed of ears of wheat and were worn like a cockade upon the hats. The festival ended with a ball at Wells' Tavern, in what is now the village of Lowville, and nearly one hundred couples attended. The last fair of the old Agricultural Society was held in 1824.

An association called "An Association for the Improvement of the Breed of Horses," was organized in 1831, and held one or two annual fairs.

A Lewis County Agricultural Society was formed on the 21st day of June, 1841, under the laws of that year, and annual fairs were held by this society.

On December 27, 1859, "The Lewis County Agricultural Society" was reorganized under chapter 425 of the laws of 1855. Prior to 1871 the county fairs were held at different places in the county—Denmark, Lowville, West Martinsburgh, Turin and Constableville. Since 1871 the county fairs have been held at Lowville.

In January, 1876, the site where the fairs are now held, called Forest Park, a very appropriate name, was purchased by the society. Prior to this the fairs were held on grounds in the southerly part of the village. The present site cost $3,150 originally, and included about fifteen acres of land. The sum of $560 was spent for fencing, $2,609 for buildings, $99 for conduit and reservoir, $28.50 for insurance, $1,017 for grubbing and ditching, making the first expense $7,467.50. It was mortgaged to the amount of $5,450. These mortgages have since been paid and the society is now out of debt. Many new buildings have been built and the grounds improved and beautified until they are now in fine condition. The grounds contain many fine shade trees and Forest Park is now one of the finest parks for holding agricultural fairs in Northern New York. County fairs are held there annually, attended by large multitudes of people, who look upon the Lewis County Fair as a place of pleasure, amusement and instruction, where they meet their friends and neighbors and have a good time generally.

The present officers are as follows:

President, R. Dwight Dewey, Turin.

Vice-Presidents, D. C. Markham, Port Leyden; A. M. Seymour, Copenhagen.

Secretary, W. S. Windecker, Lowville.

NEWSPAPERS OF LOWVILLE.

THE LOWVILLE TIMES.

"The Lowville Times" was started by John O'Donnell on "Independence Day," July 4, 1876, and was conducted by him until the fall of 1882, when it passed into the hands of Rev. Warren R. Fitch, who edited and published it until the summer of 1884, at which time one-half interest was sold to William D. Hesler. It was thereafter conducted by Rev. Warren R. Fitch and William D. Hesler until April 1, 1892, at which time Mr. Hesler sold his interest to Robert W. Jones. The paper was then conducted by Rev. Warren R. Fitch and Robert W. Jones until the death of Mr. Jones in August, 1893; thereafter by Rev. Warren R. Fitch until July 1, 1894, when he sold to Fred H. Ralsten and Ray Smiley. They conducted the publication for about two years, when Mr. Smiley transferred his interest to Mr. Ralsten, who continued the publication until November 21, 1899, at which time he sold and transfered the whole Times property to William B. Breen, the present owner and publisher.

This paper in most all of its career has been run somewhat independently, and is now independent democrat, energetically supporting the democratic party in democratic principles and in everything it advocates that promotes or tends to promote the welfare and best interests of the people.

THE JOURNAL AND REPUBLICAN.

The "Journal & Republican" was started in Lowville January 4, 1860, by the consolidation of the "Northern Journal" and the "Lewis County Republican," under the management of Henry A. Phillips. The "Northern Journal" was started at Lowville by Ambrose W. Clark February 22, 1838. In 1846 it passed into the hands of Edwin R. Colston, and in November, 1847, C. W. Haven became its editor. It was published successively by Jason C. Easton, from March 9, 1848, to October of the same year, by William Oland Bourne until 1850, and by William X. Ninde, who with V. R. Martin as editor, published it a few months. Its publication was resumed by J. C. Easton in the spring of 1853, at which time he became associated with Homer C. Hunt, and thereafter the paper was published by Easton & Hunt. It was purchased by Cordial Storrs, Jr., December 28, 1853, and continued by him until January 2, 1856, when he sold to George W. Fowler, who, October 27, 1858, sold it to Henry A. Phillips.

The "Northern Journal" was a whig organ, the "Republican" a democratic paper. The "Journal & Republican" was published by Mr. Phillips until March 1, 1864, when he sold it to Smiley & Hazen, who continued it for three years. Mr. Hazen sold his interest to Mr. Smiley March 1, 1867, who published it until July, 1867, when Mr. Phillips again purchased it. January 1, 1870, it again passed into the hands of Mr. Smiley, who published it until his death, April 9, 1878. In May of that year, Mr. Phillips again became the owner and publisher and has owned and published it since that time.

THE LEWIS COUNTY DEMOCRAT.

This paper was first started as "The Lewis County Banner," September 8, 1856, by N. B. Sylvester. It was subsequently published by E. A. Teall and Almont Barnes. September 1, 1858, it passed into the hands of Henry Allgoever, who sold it to DeWitt C. Finch January 1, 1865, at which time the title was changed. In April, 1867, Mr. Finch sold it to Manville & Phelps, the present owners, who have owned and published it since that time.

THE COUNTY COURT HOUSE.

Prior to March 10, 1864, the county seat of Lewis county was not Lowville but Martinsburgh. Prior to that time a petition had been circulated and signed by many citizens of the county, which was presented to the legislature of the state, and on the 10th day of March, 1864, an act of the legislature of the state was passed changing the county seat of the county from Martinsburg to Lowville.

Lewis County Court House.

The building, now the Court House, had been constructed by the people of Lowville at a cost of $6,000, partly by town tax and partly by subscription, for a town hall, with the intention that it would some time thereafter be used as a court house. Upon the change of the county seat from Martinsburgh to Lowville in 1864, the town hall, now the court house, was deeded to Lewis county, reserving the right to the town to use it for election and other special purposes. The courts have since that time been held therein. The change caused much feeling between the citizens of Martinsburgh and Lowville.

In the summer of 1875 the Court House was enlarged by extending the building back so as to afford room for halls, juries', district attorney's, judges, sheriff's and library rooms. Since that time many changes have been made in the interior, one of which is a fire-proof vault for the surrogate's office.

COUNTY CLERK'S OFFICE.

The present County Clerk's Office is a small brick building situated south and near the rear of the Court House. It was built in 1864 at a cost of about $1,400, besides desks, cases and other inside furnishings. This building is not fire-proof, and there is not sufficient room for office, papers, records, etc. The board of supervisors of 1901 provided for the construction of a new building, and appointed a committee to provide plans and specifications and to let the contract for construction.

THE NEW COUNTY CLERK'S OFFICE.

Friday morning, April 25, 1902, the committee of twenty-one in charge of the erection of a new County Clerk's Office met at the Court House and awarded the contract for the erection and completion of the building to Charles Wisner & Sons, of Lowville, for $13,149. The contract provided that the building should be commenced not later than May 1, and should be completed November 1. The building will be thoroughly fire-proof in every respect, being composed of stone, brick, steel and marble, with tile floors, and furnished with metal ceilings throughout. It will be 30x54 feet, two stories high with basement. The executive committee recommended to the committee of twenty-one the adoption of the plans and specifications as prepared by Architect Edwin B. Higby, except that American polished plate glass be substituted in the front of the building for that specified and that hydraulic pressed brick be used for the front and turn the front corners, and that the contract be executed by the County of Lewis with Charles Wisner & Sons for the erection and completion of the building according to the plans and specifications with those changes. These recommendations were unanimously adopted. On motion of Mr. Otis the building was located on the north side of the Court House, the front to be on a line with the Court House and the eaves on the north side to be four inches south of the south line of the Lowville Academy lot.

The building will be a fine modern structure and when completed will be not only useful but ornamental.

LEWIS COUNTY JAIL.

The County Jail for Lewis county is a brick structure situated on the east side of State street in the village of Lowville, with a residence for the sheriff in front, office on northerly side and jail, with cells, etc., in the rear. It is a place of detention and punishment of violators and alleged violators of the law in this county.

George S. Curtis is the present sheriff and resides at the jail.

LEWIS COUNTY POOR HOUSE.

Under an act of the legislature of the state, passed in 1824, the people of Lewis county immediately proceeded to erect a County Poor House, for this county. Jonathan Collins, Charles D. Morse and Stephen Hart were appointed to purchase a site and make preliminary preparations to that end. The farm of Major David Cobb, of about 60 acres, on the hill on the southwest side of the village of Lowville, was purchased for $1,650, and the premises were fitted up for a county poor house. The first superintendents were: Nathaniel Merriam, Philo Rockwell, Stephen Leonard, Paul Abbott and Samuel Allen. By act of the legislature the number of superintendents was reduced to three, and since that time to one, and Lyman W. Brown is now superintendent and resides at the county house. The superintendent is also keeper.

In 1846 a stone building was erected, 40x60 feet in size, two stories high. In 1868 this was replaced by the present brick structure, three stories high, 32x50 feet, with wing 32x60 feet. It was finished in February, 1868, and cost $11,450. This has since been enlarged and improved. New brick buildings were erected on the premises for an insane asylum, but under the present laws these buildings are not used for that purpose, but are used in connection with the county house. A new barn is in course of erection this year and other improvements are being made on the premises.

LOWVILLE RURAL CEMETERY.

At a meeting held on January 26, 1867, the Lowville Rural Cemetery Association was organized, and on January 28 of the same year articles of incorporation were filed. Dr. F. B. Hough, Charles D. Adams, J. Carroll House, Eliada S. Merrell, D. C. West, H. S. Lanpher, Charles S. Curtis, Norman Gowdy, John Doig, George D. Brown, Rutson Rea and Charles D. Boshart were the first trustees. F. B. Hough was chosen president and J. Carroll House secretary. James L. Leonard and Dr. Frank B. Hough were two of the principal movers in the matter of the new cemetery, but Mr. Leonard died before the organization was made. He had purchased about twenty-five acres of land before his death to donate to the association for a cemetery, and the land was afterward quit-claimed by his heirs. The association purchased about eleven acres of land from Charles S. Rice, three and one-half acres from George Jackson and a corner of land from Morris D. Moore. The Catholics have the southerly part of the grounds.

This cemetery is situated on very high ground on the southwesterly side of Mill creek, occupying a commanding position overlooking the village of Lowville and a vast area of surrounding country, the view extending across and far beyond Black River to the foot of the Adirondack Mountains. The grounds are finely laid out and vaults made and many costly monuments erected in memory of the dead. This is one of the most beautiful country town cemeteries in Northern New York, about $26,000 having been expended thereon in the last few years by the association besides the original cost. The association is out of debt and has an invested surplus of about $7,000.

The present officers of the association are:

Trustees—Charles P. Leonard, Charles D. Boshart, Frank C. Doig, L. A. Bostwick, G. R. Easton, Oliver P. Hedden, A. S. Stoddard, Horace Bush, James T. Campbell, James H. Boshart, William Lennox and Henry A. Phillips.

President, Charles P. Leonard; secretary, O. P. Hedden; treasurer, Horace Bush.

Dayan Street, Looking Toward State.

ADIRONDACK WATER WORKS.

The Adirondack Waterworks system is one of the best in the state. It was built in the year 1894 by the village of Lowville. The water is supplied by a gravity system from springs issuing from the foothills of the Adirondack Mountains, nine miles from and 287 feet above the village. There are reservoirs capable of holding 2,090,000 gallons of water—the collecting reservoir at the springs, 90,000; and a storage reservoir one-half mile north of of the village, located on a hill and used for fire purposes only, 2,000,000 gallons, affording an excellent supply by gravity when needed for fire purposes. The fiscal year ends May 1. There are about twenty miles of mains and 644 taps made by the village. The taps are made for $8, including service to curb. The conducting pipes are of galvanized iron, paid for from the curb by the consumer.

The main line crosses and comes through under Black River about a mile and one-half from the village. The works are controlled and repaired by the village. The use of meters may be compelled, any consumer may have one, and they are compulsory for public buildings. There are 86 hydrants for fire purposes. The average daily consumption is about 250,000 gallons—maximum 300,000 and minimum 200,000 gallons. The ordinary pressure is 125 pounds.

The original cost of the system was $104,687.53.

Bonded debt, $98,000 at 3½ per cent. interest. The receipts for the last year were $6,608.87. The bonded debt has already been reduced to $94,000, from the net receipts. It is said that at the present rate the system will be paid for in about twenty-five years—that the system will not only pay for itself, but that it will bring in a large income to the village which may be used for public improvements.

The water is soft, cold, pure and healthy, and all Lowville people are joyous over the use of a cold, pure spring water, that is excellent not only for drinking and general household uses, but for culinary and laundry purposes as well.

The system is managed by a water commission consisting of three commissioners. The present commissioners are, James T. Campbell, W. T. Bush and C P. Leonard. The system is superintended by D. E. Jones, who has held the position from the time of its construction down to the present time He receives a salary of $600 per year.

Summary of original cost:

Real estate	$ 1,205 70
Construction, main works	98,430 28
Reservoir	5,051 55
Total cost	$104,687 53

THE NEW TOWN HALL.

This building was built at the expense of the town by virtue of a special act of the legislature and a large majority vote of the electors of the town, in 1899, at a cost of about $25,000. By virtue of said act of the legislature the management was vested in the town board, consisting of Ira Sharp, supervisor, W. H. Egleton, Jay C. Bardo, L. B. Searls and Frank R. Goodell, justices of the peace, and a committee consisting of George Sherwood, Charles S Mereness, E. S. K Merrell, Eugene Arthur and Julian H. Wood.

The building is constructed so as to be used for town hall and opera house purposes. It is said to be one of the best opera houses in this section of the country. It has a seating capacity of about 1,000. It is built of brick of various colors. The scenery and stage are fine, and has grand electric illumination. It is in the interior one of the most beautifully finished buildings in Northern New York, and furnishes a place for fun, entertainment, pleasure and instruction

John E. Haberer's Furniture Manufactory.

John E. Haberer is an old resident, who has grown up with the town and is a manufacturer of household furniture on a large scale. He and his brother George commenced in the furniture business in 1876 on Valley street, where John Conover used to do business on a small scale. John was then only about nineteen years of age. At that time they employed three or four men. By hard work and close attention to business their trade increased until they built a small shop or factory on Trinity avenue, where the factory now is. They carried on the business together successfully, adding to it from year to year until 1891, at which time John bought the interest of his brother George. Since that time he has owned and conducted the business individually. He has added to the plant new and modern machinery and for several years has furnished employment for about one hundred men and pays out to them annually for their services about $35,000, and in addition to this he pays out about $80,000 annually for lumber and material, making his annual pay-roll about $65,000.

John E. Haberer and his business are a fair indication of what an energetic young man of steady habits with close attention to business may accomplish.

The Iron Foundry and Machine Shop.

This establishment, situated on Valley street, in this village, was first built in 1863 by John Pfister and C. C. Richter, and was for a time owned and conducted by them; afterwards by John Pfister and Griffith Powell; then by John Pfister until he sold out to Joseph L. Hewes and John F. Horton, who afterwards sold an interest to Gilbert A. Blackmon, who together conducted the business under the name "Lowville Iron Works Company." This company sold to a corporation duly organized under the name of "Lowville Iron Works," composed of Alexander R. Gebbie, John T. Horton, Alexander E. Gebbie and Stephen D. Nevin. This corporation sold to Stephen D. Nevin, who conducted the business under the name of "The Nevin Iron Works" until March, 1902, when the buildings and contents were burned to the ground.

LaFayette Wetmore has since purchased an interest in the business and it is now conducted under the firm name of Nevin & Wetmore. A new site has been purchased by the company on the east side of the railroad adjoining the tracks, and it is now erecting a building larger than ever before. New machinery is being put in. Two electric motors will furnish the power. The buildings and tracks are to be so constructed that castings and machinery can be loaded direct from the foundry on to the cars. The company expect to do a large business in the manufacture of wood pulp machinery, centrifugal pumps, Deer River plows, general foundry and machine shop work.

The Asbestos Burial Casket Co.

This is a corporation organized October 13, 1885, for the manufacture and sale of burial cases for human interment and other business connected therewith. D. Moore's Sons, who were successors to M. D. Moore & Sons. The Lowville Lumber & Manufacturing Co. was organized October 19, 1899. The business is now carried on by D Clinton West, the secretary, treasurer and manager. The chief business of the company is the manufacture of sash, doors, blinds, inside finishings and plumbers' cabinet ware. The company is doing a large and prosperous business.

Wetmore Electric Company.

This is a corporation organized August 18, 1898, for the purpose of generating, furnishing and using electricity for heat, light and power purposes. Capital stock $40,000, in 400 shares of $100 each.

The existence to be fifty years. The directors for the first year were: Oliver P. Hedden, Jacob Strife, Thomas Glenn, George W. Palmer. The present officers are: LaFayette Wetmore, president; Christina Strife, vice-president; Charles D. Moore, secretary and treasurer. Directors: O. P. Hedden, Christina Strife, LaFayette Wetmore and Charles D. Moore.

The power house and generating plant is located at Belfort, where the company has a fine water power. Present capacity 333 horse-power, so arranged that with an expense of about $25,000 more the power can be increased to 1000 horse-power. It is said this will be done in the near future and the power so increased. The company is now furnishing 40 arc lights for the village and about 5,000 incandescent lights for its inhabitants. The company also furnishes power for manufacturing purposes, and it seems to be generally conceded that this power will be used much for manufacturing purposes and will do much toward building up Lowville.

This company bought out and succeeded the Lowville Electric Light and power company.

The W. G. Conover Canning Factory.

This canning factory was built in the spring of 1901, by W. G. Conover, the citizens of Lowville subscribing $5,000 to procure the factory at this place. It is claimed that this factory has a capacity of 36,000 cans per day when run at full capacity. The plant is large and expensive and during the canning season furnishes employment for many hands.

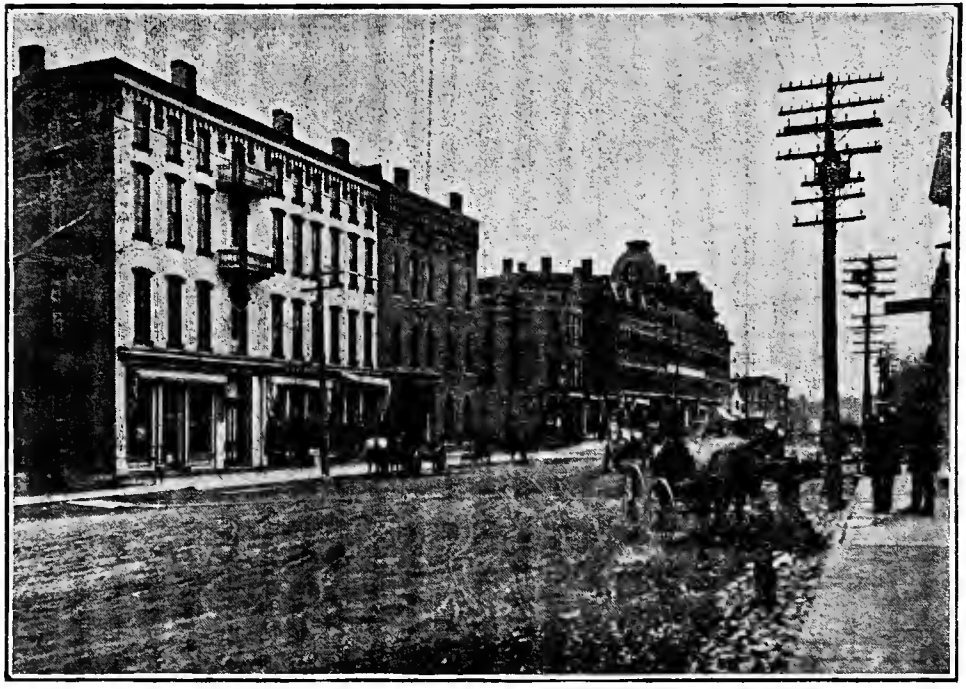

The Lowville Milk and Cream Company.

This is a corporation organized November 19, 1901, by Hanford I. Sherwood, C. Fred Boshart, Loren H. Stephens and John Moore.

Lowville, Its People and Environment.

The pioneers of Lowville were a sturdy, earnest yeomanry with a high sense of duty and honor. They set their mark as high in the world as their means and circumstances would permit. They founded churches and schools, and provided for law and order. They arranged for the higher education of the young by founding Lowville Academy, which has become a noted institution of learning wherein not only students of Lowville and vicinity are educated, but students from the several states of the Union and from foreign countries are educated as well. It has educated and sent forth into the world strong men of noble minds who have occupied high positions in the front ranks among their fellow men. They laid the foundation for the present society, civilization and culture of the people of Lowville, and it is fair to say that no town in Northern New York of the age and number of inhabitants of this village contains better schools, churches and society, or stands higher in education, culture and ethics.

The village of Lowville is situated in the Black River Valley with a long range of highlands extending north and south on the westerly side, called Tug Hill. The Adirondack Mountains on the east side, with high land both north and south. One can stand on the westerly side of the town and obtain a grand view of the surrounding country, looking over the village of Lowville, Black River and Black River Valley to the Adirondack Mountains, looking upon seven different towns from where they stand, across the Utica & Black River railroad, now leased and operated by the New York Central & Hudson River Railroad Company, running through the easterly side of the village, with its locomotives and trains of cars passing and repassing. Still easterly and this side of the mountains one may see Black River with its steamboats and tugboats passing and repassing while towing the canal boats on the river between Lyons Falls and Carthage. The smoke and steam from the manufacturing establishments located on the easterly side of the village of Lowville, and the several villages in the distance with their church spires pointing toward Heaven, lend enchantment to the scenery. At Chases Lake and in the Adirondack forest far distant in the east, the Lowville people as well as many others are prone to wander during the fishing, hunting and recreation seasons among the beautiful lakes, streams, mountains and forest in search of pleasure, wild deer and the speckled beauties, and it may be said that many of them return refreshed in health and spirit, with an abundant supply of the game sought. These people thus enjoy a vacation in the balmy sweetness and refreshment of the wild forest mountains and lakes, and return to Lowville with renewed life and energy, to resume the duties, responsibilities and perplexities of life. The view above described is grand and ennobling. It inspires one with the magnitude and grandure of nature, the wonderful and awe-inspiring works of God.

Lowville is the county seat of Lewis County, and being situated mainly in the Black River Valley, is one of the richest, most fertile and progressive farming regions in Northern New York. Surrounded on all sides by an excellent farming and dairy country, the chief occupation of the farmers is the manufacture of butter and cheese, and the production of large quantities of milk for shipment to New York and other places. The dairy products manufactured here rank among the best in the state. Large quantities of hay, grain and potatoes are also raised for shipment. Many of the farmers own fine farms that are well cultivated and have good house and farm buildings, and some possess very large and expensive modern barns.

The village of Lowville being situated on the low land east of the Tug Hill Range, but high above the Black River Valley, is shielded from wind and storm by the highlands on the north, west and south. It has pure air and is a very healthy place in which to reside. It has many fine residences, good business blocks, manufacturing establishments, and includes among its residents many people of wealth and refinement. The lawns and streets are shaded with a luxuriant growth of maple and elm trees with heavy foliage, the land being very fertile. It is well supplied with churches, public schools and an academy, opera house, club house and electric lights. It has an excellent supply of Adirondack spring water, pure, soft, cold and healthy, excellent for drinking, culinary and general purposes. A large reservoir is situated on the high land north of the village containing in store a large quantity of this water for protection against fire in case it should be needed, though the supply from the mains is such that the reservoir water is seldom needed. Fires last but a short time when the Adirondack water is turned on.

There are two excellent National Banks with abundant capital and perfectly secure where those having a surplus of the circulating money medium of the country may deposit the surplus in safety and sleep nights without fearing that the bank will fail.

Forest Park, the place where the Lewis County Fairs are held, contains, including additions purchased, about twenty-five acres of land, and is situated in the northeasterly part of the village. This park has fine grounds, a good driving course, base ball grounds, foot ball grounds, etc. A fine view is afforded from the park across the railroad tracks, Black River and Black River Valley to the Adirondack Mountains. From there one may look upon several different towns including a number of villages. It has beautiful elm, maple and beech shade trees with convenient seats intersperced where the weary visitor may rest. There are a large covered grand stand, agricultural buildings, floral hall, booths, etc., affording a place for picnics, sports races and gatherings of all kinds.

Lowville has one of the best brass bands in Northern New York. It is the pride of the town. Prof. Frank Thompson, the present leader, is an artist and hustler. There is also an excellent orchestra.

Being the county seat of Lewis County, it of course has the Court House, where the courts are held and litigants settle their disputes or have their disputes settled for them, some to their joy and others to their sorrow. It has a county jail, where the law-breaker may be confined, and a county poor house, where the deserving poor and some who are not so deserving are fed and looked after.

The village contains five church edifices, some of them have steeples with spires pointing toward Heaven, others have not, the membership perhaps thinking that the distance up does not matter so much as the Heavenly state of the membership.

The village also has a modern opera house (called a town hall for the benefit of the taxpayers of the town at whose expense the structure was erected.) The building is finely finished and has all modern improvements, including steam heat, electric lights, etc., and has a seating capacity of about one thousand. The building has rooms for a library, town offices, waiting room, cloak rooms, and rooms for other purposes, and is a place of entertainment and enjoyment for the people. The building is also used for speeches lectures and home entertainments.

The Lowville Club has a large membership, a fine new club house built in modern style with modern conveniences, having sufficient rooms for the entertainment and enjoyment of its members. It has electric lights, steam heat and is nicely finished and furnished making a place that affords much amusement and entertainment for the members.

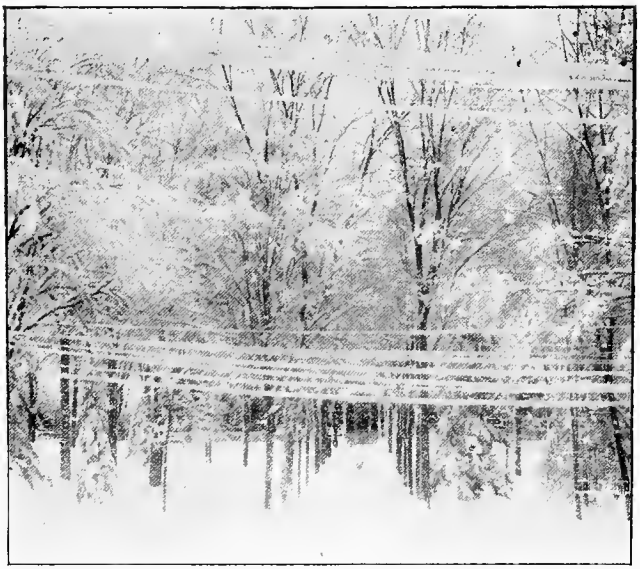

The Wetmore Electric Company furnishes abundant electric power for lighting and propelling machinery.

The mines of Lowville have not been fully developed. Some effort was made in this direction for silver and lead before the advent of a railroad though this section, but at that time it did not pay and the work in the mines was discontinued. With the present railroad facilities no one can tell what the world's to-morrow might bring forth in this direction.

The village is well supplied with gristmills, a furniture manufactory, a burial casket manufactory, the Nevin & Wetmore iron works, a canning factory, a milk and cream station and many other manufacturing enterprises too numerous to mention here.

Thus it is seen that Lowville is a good place in which to live; that God and the people have done much for it and have provided for it those things that promote long life, pleasure, contentment and happiness, inspiring a love of nature and of nature's God, and if good environment make good people Lowville should stand at the front.

Lowville is a growing town, many of the business blocks, manufacturing establishments, new town hall or opera house, club house and many fine residences having been built within the last few years. And now, with the new electric plant to furnish power for manufacturing purposes, we have no doubt but in the world's to-morrow Lowville will be greatly built up and its people continue to stand in the front rank as to intelligence, refinement, wealth and prosperity.

Insurance That Insures.

WHEN a property owner decides to insure his buildings, and other property, against loss and damage by fire, tornado or windstorm it is very important that he secure the best that is offered. The attention of all property owners in Lewis County is called to the list of companies given below that are represented at this agency :

ÆTNA, of Hartford.
BRITISH AMERICA, of Toronto.
COMMERCIAL UNION, of London.
CONTINENTAL, of New York.
DUTCHESS, of Poughkeepsie.
GLENS FALL, of Glens Falls.

After carefully reading above list of companies, whose combined NET SURPLUS, over capital and all other liabilities, amounts to TWENTY-SEVEN MILLION DOLLARS, I feel confident that all will agree with me when I say that I offer the very best insurance that the market affords.

Particular attention is given to applications for Accident, Plate Glass, Steam Boiler, Tornado and Windstorm, Burglary and Employer's Liability Insurance.
